Port Signs Agreement for Wind Energy to Hydrogen Project

Port of Argentia is pleased to announce the signing of an Option to Lease Agreement with Pattern Energy Group LP to advance the development of a substantial renewable energy project at Argentia, including wind energy production and green hydrogen and derivate renewable fuels production and export facility.

Pattern Energy is one of the largest producers of wind energy in Canada and operates a project fleet of over 6 gigawatts of renewable energy globally. Through the agreement, Pattern Energy will determine the commercial feasibility of wind energy and green hydrogen production at the Port and undertake development activities for the construction of wind turbines, a hydrogen electrolysis plant and storage facility, and related green fuels infrastructure on Port lands. Working with strategic supply chain partners, the project aims to export green fuels, including carbon-free green ammonia to global markets.

Pattern Energy plans to present its project vision to local stakeholders this fall, providing details and development timelines. Stay tuned for details.
